

Public Transportation (20 - 40w)

Beijing Capital International Airport (PEK) is 30 km from the city center, and you can use train and bus services to get between the two. You can purchase a train ticket for about 4 euros, travel to the metro stop, then transfer depending on your destination. There are also several bus services which run around the clock.

Taxi (20 - 40w)

A taxi journey between Beijing Capital International Airport and the city center will cost anywhere between 15 and 30 euros, and will last about 40 minutes.